This lesson on Light Housekeeping Tips includes a complete training packet. Each in-service packet takes approximately one hour to complete and fully meets the Medicare in-service training requirements. As aides need training, you can make as many copies as you want - there s no restriction when used with aides assigned from your office location. Remember that Home Health Aides must have 12 hours of in-service training every year. LESSON OBJECTIVES Upon completion of this program, the home health aide will be able to: Identify three light housekeeping duties that may be part of a home health aide assignment. Describe two ways in which performing light housekeeping duties for patients can help keep them safe, and State one way to respond to patients and family members who ask for help with household chores that are not assigned. OVERVIEW Most people enjoy living in a clean, uncluttered, home environment. But just as human beings differ in so many ways, so do their ideas of basic housekeeping practices. Some people require their surroundings remain immaculate, while others feel completely comfortable living among stacks of newspapers, cabinets and tables filled with knickknacks, and enough plants to start a small nursery. And many people fall somewhere in between these two extremes. Whoever the person and whatever home environment exists, as far as housekeeping is concerned, illness or physical impairment can change things quickly. Patients who may have been able to do these types of tasks themselves, become dependent on others to help them. Patients may turn to family members or friends, community resources, or their home health providers for these types of services. While home health aides usually provide hands-on care to the patient directly, they are often called upon to perform a number of these light housekeeping duties that are also important to the patient s overall health and his or her ability to continue the plan of care and reach expected outcomes.
