Enslavement leads to the unleashing of savage passion...Grái Gunnarsson is accustomed to being in charge. As king of the Danes in a time of war between Christians and pagan Vikings, he takes riches and lives as he pleases. His greatest treasure of all, however, is a young woman from Wessex, a thrall who is anything but disposable. Tapia Sapadian can't escape the fierce Viking king who has taken her as his captive. Alone aboard his ship and in his quarters, she discovers she needs him more than he needs her. A gruesome wound could kill him, unless she acts to keep him alive. While in his home and under his rule, she finds her heart slowly belonging to him, even though he stands against everything she believes in--and wants to kill Christianity's greatest champion, Charlemagne the Great. Can Tapia and Grái's blossoming yet fragile love withstand the mighty differences that exist between them?
